

PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING POLICY

Patient: Test Bilingual | Document: CC 99999999 | Date: 01/09/2026

At STEMWELL, we understand that the personal information of our patients, users, employees, providers, and partners must be handled responsibly, confidentially, and respectfully. For this reason, we have adopted this Personal Data Processing Policy, through which we clearly explain how we collect, use, store, protect, and, when necessary, share the personal information provided in the course of our healthcare, administrative, and operational activities.

This Policy is developed in accordance with the Political Constitution of Colombia, Law 1581 of 2012, Decree 1377 of 2013, Law 23 of 1981, Resolution 1995 of 1999, and other applicable regulations related to personal data protection, information confidentiality, and medical record privacy.

Who is responsible for processing the data?

The party responsible for processing personal data is STEMWELL, with Tax ID (NIT) 900.439.194-0, located at Carrera 13 No. 118-08, Bogotá D.C.

For any inquiry, update, request, or complaint related to the processing of personal data, data subjects may contact us through the following channels: email info@stemwell.co · phone +57 310 406 8755.

What information do we collect and what do we use it for?

At STEMWELL we collect only the information necessary to properly provide our services and fulfill our legal and contractual obligations.

For patients and users, personal data is used to provide healthcare services, perform medical evaluations, medical exams, diagnoses, treatments, procedures, clinical follow-up, and rehabilitation processes. The information also allows us to create, update, and safeguard medical records and other healthcare records required by current regulations.

We also use the information to manage medical appointments, authorizations, referrals, medical leave certificates, billing, administrative processes, and mandatory reports to entities of the General Social Security Health System, regulatory authorities, and oversight bodies.

Additionally, the data may be used to respond to petitions, complaints and claims, internal and external audits, quality processes, and other activities necessary to ensure the proper delivery of healthcare services.

For employees, providers, and contractors, personal information may be used for selection and hiring processes, social security enrollment, access control, and compliance with labor, administrative, financial, and contractual obligations.

Processing of sensitive and health data

Some of the data STEMWELL processes qualifies as sensitive data, particularly health-related information. This type of information will be handled under strict standards of confidentiality, security, and restricted access.

Data subjects are not obligated to authorize the processing of sensitive data; however, in healthcare matters, certain information is essential to ensure proper medical care and continuity of treatment. If essential information is not provided, limitations on the delivery of healthcare services may result.

Clinical information and medical records will only be used for healthcare, administrative, and legal purposes authorized by current regulations.

Authorization for data processing

Authorization for the processing of personal data may be obtained through physical or electronic forms, admission forms, informed consent documents, contracts, recorded calls, or any unequivocal conduct that shows the data subject granted consent.

Data subjects may request the revocation of their authorization or the deletion of their data when legally applicable. However, information that must be retained by law, such as medical records, will continue to be stored for the period required by applicable regulations.

Who may we share the information with?

To ensure proper healthcare service delivery and comply with legal obligations, STEMWELL may share personal information with health insurers (EPS), partner healthcare providers (IPS), insurance companies, clinical laboratories, regulatory entities, administrative or judicial authorities, as well as technology providers and platforms used to operate our services.

In all cases, the Company will require third parties to implement adequate security and confidentiality measures to protect personal information.

Data subjects' rights

- Know, update, and correct their personal information.
- Request proof of the authorization granted.
- Be informed about how their data has been used.
- Submit inquiries, requests, or complaints.
- Request deletion of their data when legally applicable.
- File complaints with the Superintendency of Industry and Commerce.
- Access their personal data free of charge.

Handling inquiries and complaints

Inquiries or complaints related to personal data protection may be submitted via email at info@stemwell.co. Inquiries will be handled within ten (10) business days of receipt. Complaints will be answered within fifteen (15) business days, in accordance with Colombian law.

Information security

STEMWELL implements administrative, technical, and technological measures aimed at protecting personal information against loss, alteration, unauthorized access, misuse, or any fraudulent processing. These measures include physical and digital access controls, confidentiality protocols, restricted access to medical records, secure information storage, and data backup and protection mechanisms.

Medical records

The medical record is a private, mandatory document subject to legal confidentiality, in accordance with Law 23 of 1981 and Resolution 1995 of 1999. Only the patient, persons authorized by the patient, healthcare staff directly involved in their care, and legally authorized authorities may access it. STEMWELL will retain medical records for the period required by current regulations.

Validity and changes

This Policy is effective as of its publication and will remain in force for as long as STEMWELL processes personal data. The Company may update or modify this Policy at any time. Any changes will be communicated through STEMWELL's official channels.

WELCOME LETTER

CMD-FR-001 V1

Patient: Test Bilingual | Document: CC 99999999 | Date: 01/09/2026

Welcome to STEMWELL, the Regenerative Medicine Clinic. It is truly an honor to have you as our patient. Recognizing the importance of your health to us, we are committed to helping improve your overall well-being.

Your treatment plan, based on regenerative medicine, unfolds across three key phases described in the GOSPA protocol:

1) Preparation and Cellular Detoxification Phase

In this initial stage, tailored to your age and condition, we use a combination of antioxidants, trace elements, electrolytes, and vitamins that facilitate cellular cleansing, counteracting oxidative stress and improving cellular quality.

Advanced therapies are considered, such as high-frequency shockwave sessions, which act directly on the affected tissues and are personalized to your symptoms, before and/or after the implantation of orthobiologics. High-frequency laser therapy helps activate stem cells and has anti-inflammatory effects; radiofrequency may also be used, which improves collagen quality.

2) Collection, Processing, Activation, and Implantation of Orthobiologics

Orthobiologics, which include autologous cells (the patient's own) of hematopoietic or mesenchymal origin, and exosomes, are carefully collected and processed.

Depending on your condition, allogeneic products from donors may be incorporated, meeting the quality standards required by the Ministry of Health and Social Protection under Resolution 1160 of 2016. This phase is carried out under strict aseptic and antiseptic conditions, and under sedation in our specialized operating rooms.

3) Adaptation Phase

After implantation, maintaining cell viability is essential. Additional measures include antioxidant factors to sustain acid-base balance and rehabilitation therapies tailored to your needs.

Following the application, periodic evaluations may be necessary, especially for conditions associated with pain or intra-articular injuries, which may include additional growth factors and orthobiologics as recommended by our specialists. You will receive individualized care recommendations and guidance on the potential need for physical rehabilitation.

It is important to keep in mind that the full benefits of regenerative treatment typically appear a few months after application. It is therefore essential to strictly follow the post-implantation recommendations. If you do not notice immediate improvement, remain calm and continue with the agreed treatment plan.

Although some discomfort may occur during the first two weeks, depending on your condition, this should not hinder the normal recovery process. It is important to recognize that treatment effectiveness may vary between patients.

We deeply appreciate your trust in STEMWELL. Your decision to let us be part of your healing process is highly valued. Rest assured you will receive the best care from our team.

Warm regards, the Stemwell Team.

Patient: Test Bilingual | Document: CC 99999999 | Date: 01/09/2026

I declare that, freely, voluntarily, and in full use of my mental faculties, acting on my own behalf or as the legal representative of the patient, I state the following:

- That I have been informed that the treating physician will be Dr. Dr. Test Physician, who will be solely responsible for the medical or surgical procedure(s) to be performed, which I have previously authorized.
- That the treating physician has clearly and sufficiently explained to me what the procedure(s) involve, as well as their objectives and scope.
- That I have been informed of the general and specific risks inherent to the procedure(s), as well as possible complications and the estimated success rate, understanding that such risks are inherent to medical and surgical practice. Consequently, I understand that the IPS is not liable for outcomes resulting from medical practice, provided there is no willful misconduct or negligence on the part of its professionals.
- That I am aware that IPS STEMWELL provides exclusively operating room, nursing, and surgical instrumentation services, and holds the corresponding license granted by the Secretary of Health under code No. 110012957901.
- That I understand it is the treating physician's responsibility to manage and process any matters related to insurance policies or coverage for surgical complications, if required post-operatively. I acknowledge that this is not the responsibility of IPS STEMWELL.

In witness whereof, I sign this document in the city of Bogotá D.C.

INFORMED CONSENT FOR THE USE OF AUDIOVISUAL MATERIAL

CMD-FR-010 V1

Patient: Test Bilingual | Document: CC 99999999 | Date: 01/09/2026

Through this document I grant express, prior, informed, and voluntary authorization for the use of my image rights to IPS STEMWELL, in accordance with the Political Constitution of Colombia, Law 1581 of 2012, and other applicable regulations. This authorization is governed by the following clauses:

FIRST. Authorization and purpose

I authorize IPS STEMWELL to use my image in photographs, photography-like processes, audiovisual productions (videos), and generally in any medium of expression related to image rights, exclusively for institutional, academic, scientific, informational, and promotional purposes, without implying any commercial use other than that provided for herein.

SECOND. Scope of the authorization

This authorization includes the use of my image in print editions, electronic, optical, and magnetic media, networks (intranet and internet), data messages or similar, and in any medium or format now known or developed in the future, either directly or through third parties designated by IPS STEMWELL.

THIRD. Territory and exclusivity

The rights authorized herein are granted without any geographic or territorial limitation. This authorization is non-exclusive, and the data subject reserves the right to grant similar authorizations to third parties.

FOURTH. Moral rights

STEMWELL will at all times respect current regulations regarding moral copyright, which remain vested in the rights holder.

FIFTH. Duration and right of withdrawal

This authorization is granted for an indefinite period, until revoked by the data subject. At any time, the data subject may revoke this authorization, free of charge, by sending an email to info@stemwell.co, in accordance with the IPS STEMWELL personal data processing policy.

SIXTH. Voluntary nature and sensitive data

I declare that this authorization is granted freely and voluntarily. I acknowledge that image constitutes sensitive data and that I am not obligated to authorize its processing. My refusal to grant this authorization will not affect the quality, access, or continuity of the healthcare services provided to me by IPS STEMWELL.

SEVENTH. Minors

If this authorization is granted on behalf of a minor, I state that I am acting as the legal representative and that the minor has, to the extent possible, been informed about the use of their image.

EIGHTH. Limitation of liability

IPS STEMWELL will take reasonable measures to protect the authorized use of the images, but will not be liable for misuse by unauthorized third parties.

INFORMED CONSENT — ANESTHESIA

PQR-FR-005 V1

Patient: Test Bilingual | Document: CC 99999999 | Date: 01/09/2026

It has been explained to me that anesthesia is a medical procedure that allows surgical or diagnostic interventions to be performed without pain, through the administration of medications that produce loss of sensation, pain, and/or consciousness.

After being evaluated and questioned about my medical history, and after the requested pre-surgical studies were examined and assessed, my clinical condition for undergoing the anesthesia procedure was determined. I understand that the anesthesiologist will use all available means to ensure my safety during the anesthetic procedure. However, I am aware that there are no absolute guarantees with the selected anesthesia.

I authorize the anesthesiologists, acting on their own behalf and on behalf of IPS STEMWELL, to administer the anesthesia required for my intervention or procedure.

Type of anesthesia: Spinal

Benefits

- Absence of pain during the procedure
- Greater safety and medical control
- Facilitates the surgical or diagnostic procedure

Possible risks and side effects

- Nausea and vomiting
- Headache
- Pain at the puncture site

Contraindications

- Allergies to anesthetic medications
- Uncontrolled cardiovascular or respiratory disease
- Coagulation disorders (for regional anesthesia)
- Infection at the puncture site
- Inadequate fasting

Alternatives

- Different anesthetic techniques depending on the case
- Procedures with local anesthesia or sedation
- Not undergoing the procedure (per medical advice)

I certify that my concerns have been addressed, my questions have been answered precisely and in plain language, and I have satisfactorily understood the nature and purpose of the anesthetic technique, the risks, potential medical complications, and the possible need for a blood reserve and/or transfer to intensive care if necessary. I understand that I may ask questions about the anesthesia procedure at any time. I have also been informed of my right to refuse treatment or withdraw my consent.
